Café international

The last half millennium of life sciences in Basel – from Paracelsus to the European Silicon Valley of life sciences

Talk by Prof. em. Dr. Ed Constable

Date: Thursday, 16 November 2023

Time: 18:15 till 19:30

The International Office and the Language Center invite you to the next Café international:

The last half millennium of life sciences in Basel From Paracelsus to the European Silicon Valley of life sciences

Talk by Prof. em. Dr. Ed Constable, Chemist and former Vice President for Research

Welcome by Prof. Dr. Torsten Schwede, Bioinformatician and Vice President for Research

For over half-a-millennium, Basel has been a hub of scientific innovation – from scientists such as Vesalius, Paracelsus, the Bernoullis and Clara Immerwahr to thinkers such as Erasmus and Jung. The evolution of the life sciences culture and the establishment of the chemical and life science industries in the city, is also a microcosmic history of Europe. This talk paints this history with a broad brush and sketches in a few anecdotes about the acts of our distant and not-so-distant predecessors.

Before the talk, participants who wish to, may visit the interactive exhibition Wonders of Medicine free of charge.

You are invited to an Apéro riche after the talk.
